HCPA President & CEO Steve Caldeira Named to The Hill's Annual List of Top Lobbyists

Washington D.C. – Steve Caldeira, President & CEO, Household & Commercial Products Association (HCPA), was named to The Hill's Top Lobbyists 2021. This is the fourth consecutive year that Caldeira has achieved this recognition.

As the pandemic entered its second year, Caldeira continued to lead the charge on behalf of HCPA and its members in proactively and effectively responding to COVID-19. These efforts include working to ensure that cleaning and disinfectant products remain available to consumers and workers and coordinating with government agencies and allied trade associations to help manage the supply chain.

This work earned HCPA a prestigious American Society of Association Executives (ASAE) Power of A Gold Award. The Power of A Awards are the association community's highest honor, and recognize the extraordinary programs undertaken by associations to solve problems and strengthen lives, the workforce, the economy, and the world.

Caldeira serves as a passionate advocate for the household and commercial products industry among legislators, most recently calling for a federal standard for cleaning product ingredient communication. He is also a respected voice in the media, having published multiple op-eds on priority public policy issues.

This influential work was recognized by the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) Council of Manufacturing Associations (CMA) as they presented Caldeira with the 2020 Leadership Award.

Caldeira is listed on The Hill's List of Top Lobbyists under the Associations category.
